

The stands that del

GLEE's top stands were presented with their best stand awards yesterday.

Vapona, Vannucci Piante and Landmann Barbecues – which won the HGR Best Small, medium and Large Stand Awards respectively – were presented with their winning trophies by HGR publishing director Martin Albert, its group advertising manager Mark Skelton and HGR editor Liam O'Brien. Also at the presentations were judges Sydney Levy, interim vice president of the BHMA, John Adkins, executive director of Gardenlink, and Alan and Veronica Stone of United Houseware Merchants.

The stands were assessed on initial impact, use of space, product display, lighting, colour and staff appearance.

Martin Albert (centre), Hardware & Garden Review's publishing director, presents the HGR Best Medium Stand Award to Vannucci Piante's Vannino Vannucci (left) and Canale Renato

Hardware & Garden Review group advertising manager Mark Skelton presents the HGR Best Large Stand Award to a Landman director Jeff Hull. Back row (left to right) Sydney Levy BHMA interim vice president, John Adkins executive

PBI clinches distribution rights

Hungry hedgehogs' delight

GLEE newcomer Perky Pet Foods (Hall 4 stand c33) is exhibiting a novel product, Spike's Dinner, a food for hedgehogs. Perky Pet Foods proprietor, Marion Horscroft told Daily GLEE that people like hedgehogs because they are one of the few friends and loyal wild animals. "They often become pet substitutes, some people even build little houses for them."

Ms Horscroft said that they knew people were feeding hedge-

Web Euro

UK and USA re...
 they reinforced...
 Jeffrey Stephe...
 Stephens Produ...
 visit to the sho...
 appointed Inte...
 Manager for We...
 Stephens, 34,...
 founder George...
 in the family bu...
 of 19 as Mar